

Father God, who knows my every need before I ask, incline my heart to hear Your voice.

Lord, I pray that You would make us, the Transform Louisville intercessors, one in the Spirit of Christ.

I pray that You would identify and call more people from a wide diversity of neighborhoods and walks of life to join with us in Transform Louisville.

I pray that everything we do would be saturated in holy prayer to You -- that we would not make a move without asking first for You to reveal Your will, and that You would make our hearts utterly obedient to You. Give our hearts to understand that to pray is more important than to act. If we will pray, You will act!

I pray that Jesus would be glorified in all we do.

I pray that the hearts of all who love Jesus Christ in our region would be made as one, and that each person would be moved to worship You in spirit and in truth. May every occasion of Christian worship in Louisville and southern Indiana have a fresh anointing of Your Spirit this week!

I pray that Your Spirit would convict to repentance those people in our city who are lost in darkness and do not know You.

I pray that the humility and love of Jesus would be our hallmark, and that when we are together all would experience the supernatural love of Christ in our midst.

I pray for your protection for our city against natural disasters. I ask You to give us the wisdom and fortitude to prepare ourselves for possible calamity. Give us the humility of heart, maturity and brotherly love to invest our resources in ways and means to protect, nurture and educate the least of our citizens, especially the children and the elderly in our midst.

I pray for the Chapel of St. Philip, who have generously given us a home for our gatherings. Please bless it richly, glorify Your Name and the name of Your Son Jesus through it, provide abundantly for its maintenance and the expansion of its ministry. We pray that You would bless the lives of Bill Walsh and Heather Cruikshank, and the life of each person who serves on the Chapel Council. Draw them ever closer to Your heart, O Lord.

I pray that all similar prayer efforts in Louisville would be richly blessed.

Lord, we desire no glory other than to be Your servants and the servants of all who love You. Make us willing to be the least of all Your people, happy to be of no account as Jesus made Himself of no account.

I pray for our individual integrity: may Satan's efforts to trip us up be utterly bound by the Spirit of Jesus; may we be servant-hearted and cheerfully industrious in our homes and in our workplaces; please sanctify every word that passes from our lips; grant us favor with everyone we meet and in all we do.

I pray for all Your sons and daughters who work for the harvest of souls in Louisville, especially the people of Reclaim our Culture Kentuckiana, the Louisville Christian Foundation, the Louisville Prayer Breakfast, the Kentucky Strategic Prayer Network, and the Louisville House of Prayer. I pray that You would shower them with the people and the resources they need to do Your work. I pray that the presence of Transform Louisville would encourage them in their work.

I pray for all those who have blessed our efforts thus far, especially the people of Transformation Cincinnati. Please bless richly the city of Cincinnati and all who love You there. Make us one with those in Cincinnati who are praying faithfully for Transform Louisville.

I pray for our armed forces around the world: guide them, protect them, encourage them, give them a desire for You above all worldly things, and inspire them to protect those who cannot protect themselves.

I pray for our President, George W. Bush, for our Governor, Ernie Fletcher, for our Mayor, Jerry Abramson, for our police force, for our fire fighters, our metro council members, and all who work for the public good.

Give them a hunger to seek after Your truth and do to Your will, O Lord.
